

You can make our roads safer.

Aggressive driving kills. More than half of Delaware traffic deaths each year are due to aggressive driving behaviors, including:

- Speeding
- Running red lights or stop signs
- Making unsafe lane changes/cutting people off
- Failing to merge safely into oncoming traffic

You can do something about it.

- If you witness someone driving aggressively, whether they're speeding, tailgating, or running stop signs or red lights, call 9-1-1 at the first safe opportunity to do so.
- Give the operator the license plate number, if possible, or a description of the car.
- An officer will be dispatched to the area.

Don't be afraid to call 9-1-1 to report aggressive drivers. Your safety is in your hands.

In Delaware, being charged with aggressive driving could result in:

- A fine of $100 to $300 and/or 10 to 30 days in jail
- Mandatory attendance in an 8-hour behavior modification driving class

For more information on aggressive driving, visit www.state.de.us/highway.